Hunting for dwarfs and history in

Silesia

This publication has been created within the ERASMUS+ project "Young tourism: be sustainable, be entrepreneurial, be creative." (2015-2017) Students from five European schools discover the natural and cultural richness of different parts of Europe in order to promote them to young "tourists". In terms of "green" and regional tourism the participants develop a sense of responsible citizenship. This project is brought to life through an intensive cooperation with tourism management offices and "green" enterprises. Due to their expertise the students learn practically about tourism management and promotional design. This brochure is the result of the fourth international conference in Wrocław/Poland from the 6th to the 10th of March 2017.

The partner schools: Ursulinschule in Fritztal/Germany, Hammarö kommun in Skoghäll/Sweden, IES Vegas Bajás in Montijo/Spain, Zespoł Szkół Urszulańskich in Wrocław/Poland, Mehmet Çelikel Lisesi in Zonguldak/Turkey.
